

THIRTY-FIRST YEAR

LANCASTER, KY., THURSDAY AFTERNOON, JULY 22, 1920.

NUMBER 18.

MISS HELEN GILL

Appointed Truant Officer For Garrard County.

One of the most popular appointments that the County Board of Education could have made, was the naming of Miss Helen Gill as Truant Officer for Garrard county. Miss Gill is ideally equipped in every way for this responsible and important position and one that she will fill most acceptably to the public and to the Board of Education.

The entire community, all of whom is, or should be interested in the education of the children of the county, should be grateful to the board for this splendid appointment and they are to be congratulated upon securing the services of one so well qualified and efficient in every way. Miss Gill assumes her duties at once.

The new school law passed by the last legislature, compels the attendance in the public schools of all children between the ages of six and sixteen years. Many families in this county who are not observing this law, are thereby violating the state statutes.

It will be the duty of the truant officer to see that every child between the age of six and sixteen years, are in school.

The law that has just been received by the board of Education is printed in full below in order that parents of the community may become familiar with its provisions.

Provision of the New Law.

Every normal child compelled to attend some school, common, private, or parochial, for the full term between the ages of six and sixteen, unless such child is not in proper physical or mental condition to attend school, and unless such child has completed the grades. In case children attend private or parochial schools, such school shall provide a term that must not be a shorter period than the term for the common school, and the teachers and the course of study in such private or parochial schools must be approved by the State Board of Education; and such private and parochial schools shall report attendance in the same manner as common schools.

Employment certificates may be issued to children between fourteen and sixteen years of age, in accordance with the provisions of law regulating the employment of children. Such children who have not satisfactorily completed the grades shall attend the continuation school, when established, for not less than four nor more than eight hours each week throughout the regular term.

At the end of each week the teacher shall report to the Attendance Officer the name and age of every child residing in her school district who fails to attend school, as prescribed by law. It is the immediate duty of the Attendance Officer to investigate such cases. If non-attendance be due to neglect or refusal on the part of the parent or such person who has such child under constant control, it becomes the duty of the Attendance Officer to report such case or cases to the nearest court having jurisdiction, and it shall be the duty of said court immediately to issue his warrant against the person having control of such child, and said court shall try said case as other criminal cases are tried.

The penalty for failure to comply with the Attendance Law shall not be less than $5.00 for each offense. County Judges and magistrates hold examining trials only to determine whether or not the defendant shall be held over over to the grand jury.

CANADA BLAMED

For Print Paper Shortage.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 20.—Blame for much of the shortage of print paper in the United States was laid to Canada by Col. W. E. Haskell, vice president of the International Paper Company, in an address today before the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association.

He declared there was no justification for the measures adopted by the provinces of Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick prohibiting the exportation of native timber which had not been manufactured into lumber, pulp or paper.

These provinces, Colonel Haskell said, are able with proper regulation and fire protection to cut three to four million cords of timber annually without seriously impairing their own supplies.

SPECIAL

EXAMINATION For Teachers To Be Held Next Month.

The unusual shortage in teachers in this and other counties throughout the state, has called for a special examination of teachers to be held in Lancaster, Friday and Saturday, August 6th and 7th, to supply some of the schools of the county which have not been provided with teachers.

A letter from State Superintendent George Colvin to Miss Jennie Higgins, our county superintendent, sets out clearly the importance of this examination and just what the requirements will be before any teacher will be legally qualified to take charge of a school.

In the letter to Miss Higgins, Mr. Colvin says:

"In order that we may be able to take care of the teacher shortage in a number of counties, there will be held in each county on the first Friday and Saturday (6th and 7th) of August an examination of elementary and state certificates. A number of teachers are anxious to teach but are not legally qualified. I wish you would interest yourself in having as many desirable applicants as possible take this coming examination. The law, as you know, requires at least three examinations at stated periods. It allows other examinations to be held whenever necessary. Let me suggest that at the coming examination you use only one assistant examiner unless there be a sufficient number of applicants to justify the use of both of them. It will be difficult to finance the coming examination unless there be a rather large number of applicants.

You will hold this examination just exactly as you hold other examinations, having the white applicants in one room, and the colored, if there be any, in a separate room.

Give this examination as much publicity as possible. Do not under any circumstances employ, or allow to begin school, any teacher who is not legally qualified."

MEETING

At Gilead Church.

The Rev. Mr. D. J. Steger is going to conduct a meeting at Gilead church beginning August 2nd, at 8 o'clock P. M. The services will continue about twelve days, with two services each day, at eleven A. M. and at eight o'clock P. M. The pastor and church cordially invite the public to attend each of these services.

Edward N. Lawson, Pastor.

CHARGES

Raising Of Huge Slush Fund.

Cox Says G. O. P. Is Getting The Count—George White To Direct Campaign.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 21.—Charges that the Republicans were raising a campaign fund sufficient to "shock the sensibilities" were made Tuesday night by Governor James M. Cox, the Democratic presidential candidate, in an address to the Democratic National Committee, which perfected organization for the campaign yesterday.

The Democrats, Governor Cox declared, will insist upon continuance of the sensational investigation of campaign contributions and expenditures and also will make frequent and detailed accountings of their finances. The Democratic platform, he declared, is "a promissory note" which will be paid in full. He closed his address with the prediction of a November victory.

In conformance with the recommendation of the subcommittee, the National Committee unanimously elected George H. White, of Marjetta, Ohio as its chairman.

Selection of Mr. White was forecast late Tuesday when he announced he had been selected as Ohio member of the committee to succeed Edmund D. Moore, of Youngstown.

Because the request of Governor Cox Moore earlier in the day refused to be considered for the post because of pressing personal business.

After a conference between Governor Cox, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Mr. White, it was announced that tentative dates for the notification of the presidential and vice presidential candidates were: Governor Cox, Saturday, August 7, at Trail's End, the governor's home, and Mr. Roosevelt Monday, August 9th, at his home at Hyde Park, New York.

The Chautauqua.

It will be interesting, no doubt, to the patrons of the Chautauqua just closed to know that all of the 400 season tickets were sold and that there is a balance on hand of about $51.00, which will be applied on the sale of season tickets next year. The guarantors, in other words, lost nothing by their generosity and made it possible for Lancaster and Garrard county to enjoy a high class, clean entertainment.

Public Sale.

As a committee of the Freedom Church, will sell at auction at the church, one mile south of Nina, Saturday July 24th., at two o'clock, about 30 church benches in good condition. (7-15-2t-pd.)

NEW AUTO LAWS

Being Violated Every Day In Lancaster.

Parents are certainly unaware of the law passed by the last Legislature regarding automobile traffic and the persons driving them.

The law says that no person under fourteen years of age is permitted to drive a car under any condition. Persons under sixteen and over fourteen may drive if accompanied by man or woman twenty-one years or over. Persons over sixteen may drive unaccompanied. No boy under eighteen is permitted to hold a position as chauffeur.

It is an every day occurrence to see this law violated in Lancaster, by boys under fourteen driving automobiles, although they may be accompanied by parents, this is in violation of the law.

We do not know whose duty it is to enforce this law, but it should be done. The question is: will it? Its being enforced in other towns, why not in Lancaster before a serious accident occurs upon one of our crowded thoroughfares.

DEMOCRATIC

State Committee Meeting.

Congressman Cantrill Slated For Chairman.

The Democratic State Committee will meet in Louisville Tuesday, July 27th, at which time the selection of Congressman Cantrill as campaign chairman will probably be announced. Judge Harlin, chairman of the committee, will issue the call this week. It was said at Democratic headquarters recently that Senator Beckham will name the campaign chairman and that Tom Rhea, of Russellville and Percy Haley, of Frankfort, would be offered the position, but both would refuse; the former for family reasons and the latter for business reasons.

A Big Catch.

Jim Beazley has run nearly all his fishermen friends out of town telling them of the two big bass he caught at the Nevis pond yesterday afternoon just about sundown. The two weighed eleven pounds and were caught with a tandem spinner. Mr. W. A. Dickerson was with Mr. Beazley when the two big fish were caught, but unfortunately just at the opportune time Mr. Dickerson's line became entangled in a limb and when last heard from he was still working with that line.

Col Frank Ripy Here.

Col. Frank Ripy, candidate for the democratic nomination for Congress at the primary August 7th, is in the city and county this week mingling with the constituency, in the interest of his candidacy.

Col. Ripy looks every inch a winner and tells a representative of the Record, that he has the nomination nailed down and will take King Swope's scalp in November. He has many friends in Garrard that are backing him to the limit and will work hard for his nomination at the August primary.

Good Woman

Passes Away.

The remains of Mrs. Ellen Walker Tevis were brought to Richmond Saturday and the funeral services were held at the grave Sunday. Rev. Telford, officiating. Mrs. Tevis has been an invalid for two years or more and was a most patient sufferer. She was 78 years old the 10th of July and passed away the 16th of July at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lizzie Muth, in Richland, Missouri, where she had been making her home. Mrs. Tevis was the oldest daughter of the late Wade H. and Ann Walker, and was born and reared in this county, being one of our best and beloved citizens. She is survived by three children, two brothers, Messrs Jim Walker of Richmond, R. L. Walker of this city, five sisters, Mrs. Burnside of Richmond, Mrs. Cotton, of N. C., Mrs. H. F. Hudson, Mrs. W. O. Rigney of this city, and Mrs. D. D. Geiger, of Huntington, West Virginia. Those from here who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Rigney, Mr. R. L. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Arch Kavanaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Arch Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Wood Burnside, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Dickerson, Mr. Shirley Hudson, Mr. John Walker of Mississippi and Miss Francis Geiger of Huntington Virginia.

CLARK PLACE

Sells For $25,000 To J. B. Woods of Paint Lick.

The place of Mr. James Clark on Richmond street and known as the Judge W. E. Walker home, sold at public auction yesterday morning, in less time than it takes to write this article, to Mr. J. B. Woods of the Paint Lick section of the county, for $25,000.

This is one of the most desirable pieces of property in or near Lancaster, lying just outside of the city limits and containing about twenty-four acres of land, with handsome brick residence and other necessary and substantial outbuildings including a good tobacco barn.

This property was purchased by Mr. Clark about two years ago for $19,000. It was sold through the real estate firm of O. T. Wallace and Co., of Lexington, managed here by Manley, W. M. Nicholls and Green Clay Walker. It was one of the best conducted sales we have ever attended, the astute auctioneer, Hon. W. H. Matthews, entertaining the crowd every minute of the time, especially when he was handing out the pocket books and dollar bills.

Mr. Woods with his estimable family will move to Lancaster January next and they will receive a hearty welcome by the citizens of the city and community.

PRESIDENT AND

COX IN ACCORD

Washington.—Gov. James M. Cox, Democratic nominee for the Presidency, assured President Wilson that if elected he would do everything within his power to carry out the promises the President has made relative to the great issue of the League of Nations.

This assurance was given by the candidate in the conference which the President had at the White House last Sunday with Mr. Cox and in which Franklin D. Roosevelt, Assistant secretary of the Navy, who is the Democratic nominee for Vice President also participated.

The conference began at 10:30 o'clock. The Democratic nominees were with the President an hour.

G. O. P. Hopes Are Blasted.

Republican hopes and predictions that the views of Mr. Cox and Mr. Wilson would clash over the League of Nations went glimmering when formal statements were issued at the White House showing that the President and Mr. Cox are in perfect accord on the league issue.

Big Three Make Statements.

"The Big Three," after the conference, made the following statements:

By Mr. Wilson.

"The interview was in every respect most satisfactory and gratifying."

"I found what I already knew, and what Governor Cox has let the whole world know in his speeches that he and I were absolutely at one with regard to the great issues of the League of Nations and that he is ready to be the champion in every respect of the honor of the nation and to secure peace of the world."

"Governor Cox will have the vigorous support of an absolutely united party, and I am confident also of an absolutely united nation."

By Mr. Cox.

"We are agreed as to the meaning and sufficiency of the Democratic platform and the duty of the party in the face of threatened bad faith to the world in the name of America. "His thought is still of the war and the pledges we gave to those who sacrificed. One easily sees that the leader of the nation who asked for our sons and our resources on a very distinct understanding and obligation, is resolved that the faith shall be kept. To this thought and life are dedicated. What he promised I shall, if elected, endeavor with all my strength to give."

By Mr. Roosevelt.

"I wish that every American could have been a silent witness to the meeting between these two great men. Their splendid accord and their high purposes are an inspiration. I need only add that my regret in leaving my post under President Wilson is softened by the knowledge that my new Commander-in-Chief will be his wholly worthy successor."

BIG INCREASE

Six Hundred Million Dollars Added To Payroll Of Railway Men.

DOUBLE WAGES OF 1916.

Six hundred million dollars was added to the pay envelopes of the nation's 2,000,000 railroad workers last Tuesday in the first award handed down by the new United States Railway Labor Board.

Rejecting the demands of the organized rail unions for increases totaling approximately $1,000,000,000, the board decided approximately 60 per cent of that sum would be a just increase to meet present living conditions.

The award adds approximately 21 per cent to the present pay schedules. Railroad officials have declared that any pay increase awarded the men must be followed by a corresponding increase in rates, and they plan, it is said, to file new tariffs with the Interstate Commerce Commission as soon as they can be prepared.

Referendum Vote Likely.

Whether the award as given will stave off the threat of a general railroad strike remains to be seen. The leaders of practically every one of the sixteen big railroad unions were present when Judge R. M. Barton, chairman of the board, handed down the decision. They left immediately to present the award to 1,000 general chairmen, who had gathered here to pass on its acceptability. The union presidents refused to make any comment before the meeting. The approximate terms of the decision had been known to them last Monday and they believed then their men would stay in line, at least until a referendum vote can be taken. Nearly a month will be needed for the referendum.

The board's decision is retroactive to May 1. As the maximum increase granted any class was 18 cents an hour, or $36.72 per month, the biggest pay check due when the back pay settlement is made August 1 will be for $110.16. Engineers, firemen and helpers in the yard service will receive this amount. The board provides that the back pay checks shall be made out separately so that each man will know the amount he receives from that source.

Seven Points Considered.

Seven points were taken into consideration in arriving at the award, the preamble of the board's announcement says. They were:

"The scale paid for similar kinds of work in other industries;

"The relation between wages and the cost of living;

"The hazards of the employment;

"Training and skill required;

"Degree of responsibility;

"Character and regularity of the employment;

"Inequalities in increase and treatment resulting from previous wage orders."

"Those persons who consider the rates determined on herein too high should reflect on the abnormal conditions resulting from the high cost of living and the high rates now being paid in other industries," the board said. "The employees who may believe these rates too low should consider the increased burden these rates will place on their fellow countrymen, many of whom are less favorably situated than themselves."

"The board has endeavored to fix such wages as will provide a decent living and secure for the children of the wageearners opportunity for education, and yet to remember that no class of Americans should receive preferred treatment and that the great mass of the people must ultimately pay a great part of the increased cost of operation entailed by the increase in wages determined herein."

WORK

On Highways Will Be Started Next Spring.

Lexington, Ky.—Work on the proposed new system of State highways in Kentucky will not be started until the spring of 1921, according to an official notice received by Judge F. A. Bullock from Highway Engineer Boggs.

Engineer Boggs has sent out a notice to all the county judges and county road engineers to the effect that lack of finances and the need of proper time to reorganize the State Highway Department would prevent activities being launched until the spring.

THE STRAIGHT PATH.

By WALTER DELANEY.

Wade Denham was in bad company and was ashamed of it. When he looked back upon the time when he was the trusted employee of a large grain firm, socially recognized and with apparently promising prospects, and contrasted that position with the present he dropped his head humiliated and disheartened.

The more so because the little home-like cottage at the door of which Ben Devins, bold and aggressive, had asked for something to eat had for its mistress a refined, white-haired old lady who scanned Ben in a shrinking, fear-some way, but plain pity came into her face as her eyes rested upon his younger companion, and she murmured something about "better days." Then she called:

"Myra, dear, come here."

Then had appeared a young girl of perhaps twenty, fair of form and feature. Her eyes, too, pierced the mask of unkemptness of the young fellow whose ragged and unshaven face showed that he was not in his right element.

The young lady made no comment but went back into the house and reappeared with some cold meat, bread and butter and a pitcher of milk. Ben proceeded to dispatch two-thirds of the lunch and then strolled carelessly about the yard. Denham was finishing a last crust of bread when the young lady reappeared, a child of about seven, apparently her sister, holding a plate containing a piece of pie.

"Nellie insists on your having this," spoke Myra Ward gently.

"Oh, yes, the poor man looks so hungry!" prattled the little one.

"Wait," added the young lady, setting the plate upon the porch, and hastened back into the house and brought a silver fork.

There could be no more delicate compliment or recognition. Denham lowered his eyes, for the quick tears came. The young lady, a letter in her hand, went around to the front of the house as if to place it beside the letter box for the mail carrier to take up, returned, and a minute later Ben beckoned urgently.

"We'd better make tracks," he said, and Denham could not understand his haste. "This is no good town if the village constable spies us."

"I want to reach Southport before dark," Ben apprized him. "We've been living on handouts for a week. I want something better."

For only a few days Denham had tramped it with Ben. When the firm he had worked for so long failed he had been unable to get on his feet again. Then came a spell of sickness, no work later and then absolute poverty.

When they reached the city Ben still further surprised Denham by taking a room in a fairly respectable hotel. Denham noticed that he paid for the same with a fifty-dollar bill.

"I had that stowed away all the time," asserted mendacious and tricky Ben. "I wanted to surprise you. There's a five. Go around and enjoy yourself until I come back," and he did not reappear until midnight, almost riotous as he showed an immense package of bank notes.

"Five hundred!" he gloated. "My luck at cards held firm. Now then, partner, while I'm in funds I'm going to get back to friends. I'm no piker, so I'm going to stake you to go where you please. Here, I'll stow two twenties in my old wallet. Take it, nothing but a new fancy pocketbook will do me just now."

Denham could scarcely believe his good fortune as he started for his home town the next morning.

But a vast surprise greeted him. An uncle had died leaving him a small fortune and lawyers had been seeking for him everywhere. The transition from poverty to wealth dazzled him. Then a strange discovery started him on a singular quest.

In the old wallet he had found a letter. It was all crumpled up and was directed to "Edwin Ward." It told of an inheritance of fifty dollars and it implored "dear brother" not to lose heart, that, small as was the amount, and spared with difficulty, it must be made to serve its recipient to carry out his plans.

The letter was dated at the town where the young lady had given Denham and Ben that free meal. At once Denham surmised the truth. Ben must have overheard the girl and her mother discussing the contents of the letter, had wickedly stolen it from the letter box and had appropriated the enclosure.

Wade Denham could not rest until he had located Edwin Ward, to find him striving to make his way in the literary field. Just in time he reached the discouraged one to save him from abandoning all his cherished ambitions.

To the brother Denham told all, insisting that he allow him to help him with his ample means. Six months later, the invited guest of his new friend, Denham found himself once more at Rose cottage, but under what strangely contrasting circumstances!

Myra Ward knew him at a glance. She was apprized of the truth and all the truth. The real soul of him who had once been a penniless wanderer shone forth too clearly to have her refrain from sympathy for one she had first met amid misfortune, and his love became the one romance of her life.

Piecemeal Or Chunks.

Do you smoke?
Do you chew?
Do you swear?
Do you house?
Do you carouse?
If you do none of these things you are considered an exemplary young man, a model for the growing generation to follow, a real catch in the matrimonial market for some sweet young girl.
But appearances are often deceptive. A veneer of piety may cover a world of rascality.
A few weeks ago the papers had something to say of a former army lieutenant who killed a tramp who held up him and his wife in the vestibule of their Chicago home. In the firing the young wife was also killed, and that meant the death of their unborn child.
The officer was duly sad, and was considered as a dead shot and a hero. Now he has confessed that he hired the tramp to stage a holdup in order that he might murder his wife. He killed both the wife and the tramp.
Yet in the eyes of the public he was a "model young man", with none of the vices so prevalent today.
He neither smoked, nor chewed, nor cussed, nor toozed, nor caroused, but his heart was as black as they make them.
Soon he will hang, and the devil will welcome his own.
You can't sometimes always tell, but there is a certain amount of devilishness in all of us.
It is better to let it out piecemeal than in chunks.

LAW ENFORCEMENT PLANK LEFT OUT.

Omission In Republican Platform Discovered By Prohibitionists.

(CHICAGO, Associated Press)—The law and order plank adopted by the Republican National Convention has been left out of the platform as issued from Republican headquarters, Virgil G. Hinshaw, chairman of the Prohibition National Committee, said Saturday.

"Prohibitionists," said Chairman Hinshaw, "are thunderstruck by the failure of the Republican platform issued by the National Committee to embody the law enforcement plank adopted along with other planks by unanimous vote of the Republican National Convention."

"Clinton N. Howard, representative of the Prohibition National Committee, and William Jennings Bryan sat in the Republican Convention and heard this plank read in advance of its adoption which followed without a dissenting vote. It was published as part of the platform in all the big papers of the land."

"Recently I went to the headquarters of the Republican National Committee in Chicago, and Capt. Victor Hentz, in charge, admitted the omission and said he was taking the matter up with the authorities in New York in order to ascertain the reason for leaving it out."

The plank referred to by Mr. Hinshaw was this: "The equality of all citizens under the law has always been a policy of the Republican party. Without obedience to law and maintenance of order, our American institutions must perish. Our laws must be impartially enforced, and speedy justice should be secured."

If you want to march sedately through a crowd, with head erect, chest thrown out, eyes to the front, and the multitude falling over themselves to give you the right of way, just interview a skunk before you start. You'll go through.

DROP FORESEEN IN WEED PRICES

Record Crop Hinges On Weather. Despite, U. S. Forecast. Tobacco Men Say.

20-CENT AVERAGE SEEN.

Tobacco prices will toboggan at the fall and winter markets in Kentucky if the record crop predicted last week in the July report of the Department of Agriculture is weighed in, according to Louisville representatives of the industry.

All agreed that present indications point to a large crop of good quality, but each qualified his optimistic opinion by reference to the weather between now and cutting time. The report included that this season's tobacco crop will exceed the largest previous crop by 112,000,000 pounds.

Weather of the next two weeks will be an important factor in the size of the crop in Kentucky, if the largest tobacco producing plants roots are not moistened in the coming fortnight, no crop of the magnitude predicted by the Department will be grown.

Demand Greatly Increased.

"Demand for tobacco has increased in leaps and bounds in the last few years," F. G. Harpring, head buyer for the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company here, said. "The Department of Agriculture is forecasting an enormous crop. If it materializes there should according to economics, be a drop in prices. No one will know with any certainty, however, the size of the season's crop until October 1st."

W. H. Collins, president of the Louisville Tobacco Board of Trade, looks forward to a more stable market in the fall, notwithstanding the fact that he expressed the opinion that prices will be lower. "But I do not look for a decline in prices paid by the consumers. Manufacturers will be forced to mark their prices in large measure on prices paid the grower last winter."

20-Cent Average Predicted.

Farmers, according to Mr. Collins, can count on an average of at least 20 cents a pound. Burley tobacco grown in Kentucky last season marketed at an average of 35 cents a pound, while dark tobacco, produced in the western part of the State, brought an average of 17 cents a pound. A large part of the latter kind was kept off the market because Francis E. Merriman, Jefferson County agricultural agent, expressed the fear that the crop will not be as large as expected.

"Farmers throughout the State," he said, "are praying for rain. It now looks like the State will produce a record crop, but much depends on whether there is sufficient rain-fall in the next two weeks. Prices largely will be regulated by whether much tobacco is exported."

"Prices are bound to be lower," J. Lewis Letterle, president of Jefferson County Farm Bureau, said "with the greatly increased acreage that is being grown in Kentucky and with the large amount of dark tobacco that is being held for a rising market by the growers of Western Kentucky. Burley tobacco brought good prices last year, but the market, at that, was not as good as in the fall and winter of 1918."

WILHELM

Plans To Spend Rest of His Days On An Island In South Seas.

BERLIN—The former Kaiser plans to follow the example of Robert Louis Stevenson and spend the remainder of his life on an island in the South Seas.

His movements, of course, are conditional on approval of the Allied Nations, and I am informed on excellent authority that his formal application for this permission will be filed shortly.

Now that his anxiety lest he be taken into court to stand trial on charges of criminal responsibility for the war and its atrocities, is relieved, he is planning his life again.

He wants to take a few faithful friends southward and then spend his remaining years in literary work and musical compositions in which he believes himself gifted. He has already been approached by American publishers who desire to purchase his output, but no contracts have been signed.

The former Kaiserin will accompany him, but his sons, especially the Crown Prince, are bitterly opposed to the plan, though it is known that the climate of the South Seas will be beneficial to his health.

How Will They Do It?

The platforms of both political parties hold out hopes of a reduction in the cost of living.

But how is it to be accomplished?

It has long since ceased to be simply a matter of profiteers getting together and boosting prices.

Labor in all lines is high, and everything that goes into the production of an article for use or consumption is also high.

Profits in many cases could be shaved, of course, but prices can never get back to normal as long as wages and salaries remain as they are.

Can you imagine any man voluntarily accepting a reduction in pay for his services?

We can not.

And can you see how commodities are to be materially reduced in cost until there is first a reduction in wages and salaries?

We can not.

Perhaps you possess a keen analytical mind and can see a way out of the whole muddle.

But we can not.

Live Stock Facts

SELECT BROOD SOWS IN FALL

Animals Should Be Fed in Manner Different From Way They Are Prepared for Market.

Early fall is the time of year when hog growers should select from the spring crop of pigs the sows to be used as next year's dams. From now on until the breeding season these sows should be fed in a manner different from the way they were to be fattened for market purposes. Good forage crops are practically a necessity. A self-feeder containing a good quality of thrashed oats makes good feed for these sows. In addition, they may be fed a small amount of corn and some shorts or middlings, and fish meal or tankage.

Careful attention should be given to the selection of sows for breeding purposes. First, they should be selected from a good-sized litter and from a litter whose dam has good suckling qualities. The brood sow should be of a good rangy type, with a good, strong arched back, deep sides, rather thin neck, and not too broad in the face. By all means she should be a "good footed" animal with good, strong legs and pasterns and rather unstanding from the ground.

The sow that takes plenty of exercise freely is the one that is most likely to make a desirable brood sow. Do not select a sow from a litter whose dam is cross and irritable. The sow should be gentle and easily handled.

Attention should also be paid to the eyes. A blind sow is likely to step on and injure her pigs. Careful attention to these details at this time will have a tendency to add to the number of pigs that may be brought to maturity.

CHILDREN TO STUDY STOCK

Wyoming Teacher Asks for Pictures of Different Breeds and Types of Animals.

Times have changed. The sequel of the incident, Mary had a little lamb, which was turned out of school, etc., is the desire of a Wyoming school teacher to display in the schoolhouse framed pictures of well-bred animals. In a request to the United States department of agriculture a teacher in Fremont county, Wyo., has asked for—and will receive at the cost of the prints—approved photographs of the different breeds and types of horses, cattle, hogs, sheep, and poultry.

The display of such pictures on schoolroom walls will do much. It is believed, to encourage the keeping and breeding of well-bred stock in the locality.

DISPOSE OF ALL POOR EWES

Animals With Bad Udders or Broken Mouths Should Be Discarded Before Breeding Season.

Ewes that have bad udders or broken mouths, or ewes that have previously failed to breed, will make no money and have no place in the breeding flock. It is a sign of poor management where they are not marked that they may be identified and thrown out before the breeding season. Sometimes the end of a tail is clipped off in shearing, the shepherd neglects to mention it, and unless a close inspection is made before breeding the owner knows nothing about it until lambing time. Such details do not escape the successful shepherd.

FEED THIN HOGS ON PASTURE

Several Combinations of Grain and Skim Milk Enumerated That Are of Much Benefit.

For thin hogs on pasture, try these rations: Equal parts of wheat middlings and corn; equal parts of ground rye and skim milk; equal parts of corn and ground oats; equal parts of corn and skim milk; equal parts of rye and ground oats; ten parts of corn or ground rye and one part of tankage.

IMPROVEMENT OF STOCK

Choose a breed and stick to it. Breed with the correct type in mind. Study pedigrees for inherited characteristics, relative merit and value. Keep your herd or flock free from disease. Develop the young animals and maintain the breeding animals through wise feeding and management.

Cracks at Creation.

We frankly admit that it is God-like to love our enemies as we love ourselves. But who wants to pose as God.

The civilized world of today and the donkeys within it are surely a km. Both are experts at progressing backward.

After having reached the top of the ladder, some people become so disappointed with life they start right down again.

It's an easy matter to find people with whom you can argue, but it's a devil of a job to locate one you can convince.

An exchange remarks that this year the nation's birthday was not only safe and sane, but dry and dusty. It was.

No matter how henpecked a man may be, there always comes a time when he can break even with his wife. In his will.

The secret of many a woman's reputation for beauty lies in her smile. Cultivate the art. It costs nothing but an effort and its value has never yet been computed.

Some people imagine that the Lord has invested them with the right to inquire into the private affairs of others. The devil knows them, but the Lord don't.

Mrs. Elbina D. Hinkley, of Rehnolds station, Pa., is eighty-nine years old and hoes potatoes in her garden. Can any one in this community beat that record? Speak up let us publish the names. Such people deserve all of honor and publicity we can give them.

We sympathize with that Lancaster, Pa., lad who pulled off a premature Fourth of July celebration all his own when a bunch of fireworks and torpedoes exploded in his pocket while at the dinner table. It is embarrassing indeed to eat one's dinner from the mantle on the nation's birthday.

JOY SQUELCHED

Editor Delighted to Get Paper, But Bill Was A Scream.

The Enterprise says:
The Enterprise a few days ago received a shipment of two tons of print paper, slightly more than two months' supply, and as it was the first to be received in several months, it was a source of great delight. But the joy was of short duration, for in the night the same day came the bill. When the order for this paper was placed the company accepting it wrote that they did not know when they would be able to make shipment, nor what the price would be, but that the paper would be filled at the price prevailing when the shipment was made. In normal times, lack in the good old days, the two tons received the other day cost around $85. We would like for you to guess the cost of the two tons that just came in. No, you are wrong, for no one would think of guessing such a figure. The cost was $625. To this amount must be added freight, and drayage. The house from which the paper was secured writes very frankly about the matter. "In a letter it says: 'We realize the price we are charging you for this paper is very high indeed, and we do not see how any newspaper can afford to pay it. We bought the paper from the mills because we wanted something with which to take care of our trade.' The Enterprise no longer wonders that there have been so many newspaper suspensions in the country recently."

Unknown Admirer

Wooes Princess Mary

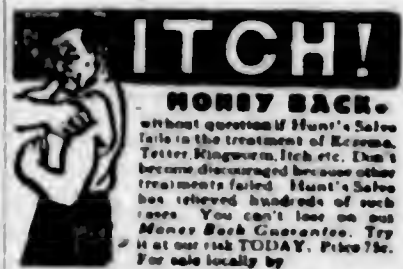

England's royal family is confronted by the problem of a secret love affair of one of its members. The story is that Princess Mary has an unknown admirer, who has been sending her love letters.

His letters said to contain expressions of admiration and of the deepest affection. A lighter vein runs through them, but they are in the form of a most ardent nature. All the notes have been typewritten, and there has been no glow which would make it possible to trace the identity of the author.

During the last week the mystery has been deepened by the receipt of a gift package by the Princess which contained a handsome diamond necklace, which has been valued at $25,000. It is believed to be from the author of the anonymous letters.

The Princess was greatly pleased with the jewels, but, questioned by her mother, she said she had no idea from whom they came. The package bore a Holland postmark.

These are glorious days for outdoor sports, fishing, courting, and listening to a good sermon. Which do you prefer?

FOURTH RED CROSS ROLL CALL ANNOUNCED

Announcing the Fourth Red Cross Roll Call to be held between November 11 and November 25, 1920, Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman of the Central Committee, made known the fact that as a result of last year's roll call the American Red Cross has 1,000,000 members.

The Red Cross has decided to make such anniversary of the ending of the world war the occasion for renewing allegiance to the "Greatest Mother" by means of the dollar membership. Thus the Fourth Roll Call will have for its purpose the maintenance of as nearly universal membership as possible and the support of peace time activities.

These activities are continuation of measures in behalf of America's veterans of the World War, particularly the disabled, service to the peace time Army and Navy, development of a stouter resistance to disease through health centers, increasing of the country's nursing resources, continued preparedness for disaster relief, home service and community work and completion of relief work among the war-exhausted and disease-ridden peoples overseas.

QUESTIONNAIRE BRINGS MONEY FOR VACATION

In a certain Lake Division town, there's a mother of a former soldier who has nearly $100 extra to spend for herself this summer.

The Red Cross Home Service section in that community sent questionnaires to all ex-service men, asking them if all their war-time affairs had been satisfactorily settled.

The particular soldier in question was discharged soon after the Armistice and had never learned that some travel pay was due him. After he had read over the questionnaire he decided to look up the Home Service secretary and find out about some of the things noted among the queries.

As a result he just received a check for $96.48 that he didn't know was due him until the Red Cross questionnaire came. He gave the money to his mother for a vacation. This is a typical example of the service given by the Red Cross.

RED CROSS NURSES WIN SCHOLARSHIPS

Nine Red Cross chapters in the Lake Division have given scholarships for a four-months' post graduate course in Public Health Nursing at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, to nurses in their communities.

On completion of their study Sept. 1, they will return to their homes and carry on the Public Health Nursing program of the Red Cross, which includes visiting nursing, school nursing, instruction work, and general community service in caring for health.

Chapters which have awarded these scholarships are Richmond, Union County, Ohio; Laxrange, Ind.; Port Wayne, Ind.; Montpelier, Williams County, Ohio; Zanesville, Ohio; Thrift, Ind.; South Bend, Ind.; West Alexandria, Ohio, and Bluffton, Ind.

TRAINING COURSES OPEN FOR TRAINING RED CROSS WORKERS

In the summer session at Ohio State University, Columbus, the Red Cross, in cooperation with the university, is offering a six weeks' course of training for persons who wish to become Red Cross executive secretaries or chapter managers.

This is designed to meet the demand for trained executives to promote the Red Cross peace time program. Instructors include prominent men on the university faculty, National and Divisional Red Cross leaders and others of national repute.

COMMUNITY INSPIRED TO INCORPORATE TOWN

Coke Otto, a small mining community near Hamilton, Ohio, isn't content to be just a group of people any longer.

Coke Otto wants to be an incorporated town.

And it's all the result of community meetings and activities inaugurated by the Rural Extension Secretary of Hamilton Chapter of the Red Cross.

When Hamilton engaged its rural worker, she went among other places to Coke Otto, where perhaps 700 people live. Sanitary conditions were very lax there, so one of the first movements was the organization of a "tin can brigade." This was divided into eight subbrigades and prizes were offered the group that kept the most rubbish out of the community for a specified length of time.

Subsequent community meetings have shown the people of Coke Otto the need for street clean-ups, flood protection and sanitation. After the third meeting the community decided that better and quicker results could be obtained through united efforts. Hence the plan to become an incorporated town.

Armistice Day, November 11, to Thanksgiving Day, November 25—the Fourth Red Cross Roll Call.

You can't expect folks to be happy and contented where the home is in half-darkness and permeated by the smell of smoky lamps. Every member of your family is entitled to all the bright electric light which city folks have. If somebody asked you to buy an expensive plant that simply furnished light and no more, you might have some good arguments against such a purchase, but when you think of a lighting plant that is also a plant capable of operating any and every small machine on your place, that is another matter.

FOR CONGRESS.

We are authorized to announce RALPH GILBERT, of Shelby county, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in this, the Eighth Congressional District of Kentucky. State Primary Election, Saturday, August 7, 1920.

FOR CONGRESS.

We are authorized to announce COL. FRANK L. RIPPY, of Anderson county, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in this, the Eighth Congressional District of Kentucky. State Primary Election, Saturday, August 7, 1920.

If we ever yield to pressure and become an aspirant to the presidency we shall place our fate in the hands of the feminine voters of our party, bless their charming souls.

We admire the poise and dignity they exhibited at the national convention—at both conventions, to be more explicit.

They just smiled in like veterans, with a grasp of even the most intricate details that simply paralyzed the old line politicians.

Even before the delegates had commenced to warm their seats the leaders were tiptoeing around on uneasy street in mortal fear of bringing down the displeasure of American motherhood upon their political heads.

And yet the dear ones were so charming and so sweet in their power that no man could be found who would even think of voicing a protest.

Yea, sir, we tell it to the world that they were glorious and that we are strong for the women.

Some day they may recognize our political sagacity and make us president.

Speed the day!

The political campaign is on and the elusive voter is being bombarded with volleys of rhetoric telling of the virtues of the respective candidates.

We have heard so much of this virtue stuff we are beginning to wonder why there is no halo glowing around their political heads.

But why make it a campaign of virtue? Why not inject a little candor into it?

Suppose we voters of both parties should decide that we have been fed upon virtue, that we don't want a saint for president, but that we do want the fellow who can prove up the reddest blood and the greatest number of escapades in his past life.

Wouldn't the stories that would be volleyed at us jar us?

And wouldn't it be just about the most enlivening campaign we have ever pulled off?

Even a dyspeptic could eat three squares after that.

There isn't a doubt but what European countries need American money for construction work, and also for reconstruction work. They frankly admit it.

Some of our big financial institutions favor letting them have it, at heavy interest—the people's money that is on deposit with them.

But most people in this country favor keeping our money at home. There is plenty of construction work here, and it all requires money.

There are even many of us who have the temerity to feel that ten billions of dollars is about enough for Europe to owe us at one time. It is wiser to get some of that back before handing out more, or at least the interest on those ten billions.

Let's put our own house in order before we start another kindergarten for pauperized foreign governments.

The bag we are holding is quite large enough as it is—ten billions large.

The plain voter may decide to do a lot of thinking at this election. He may even think for himself, much as the leaders secretly disapprove of such a course.

In the past the p. v. hasn't done as much thinking as he might. It hasn't been necessary. Others have been good and kind to him and have saved him that trouble.

But the p. v. is no longer in the primary grade. He has been striding right along and has about decided to issue himself a diploma.

He feels that he has reached the graduating stage and is entitled to do his own thinking.

At least he will try it—and he may succeed.

Stranger things than that have happened, even in American politics.

Have you ever noticed the number of exceptionally bright children there are in this town?

The teachers of our public school could tell many stories of the outcroppings of keen intellects that are observed from day to day. But they of course are uncommunicative, as teachers should be—they never make comparisons.

It is really worth while to study your children, and your neighbors' children, and all of the children in town.

Clean lives, healthy environment and judicious training are accomplishing wonderful results.

Open your eyes and look around.

Summer is a good time to look around town and see what we need in the way of improvements—what can be done to better the condition of the town and its people.

We don't need a committee of three or four for this purpose. It should be a committee of the whole, with everybody on it, and each member should start with his own property. Are you ready?

If every man in this town would pick up every old paper and piece of debris on the streets and in the alleys they would receive the profound gratitude of every woman in town. Soon there would be no papers and rubbish left to pick up, but our women would still be grateful, even more grateful. And who in this town isn't game in the face of such a reward?

300 MILES OF STATE HIGHWAY COST $3,000,000.

Motorists Will Bear
Three Fourths of The Burden, States Engineer Boggs.

FRANKFORT, KY.—Joe Boggs, State Highway Engineer, estimates that the road fund for next year will amount to $2,750,000, of which $1,700,000 will be derived from the tax on motor horse power, $450,000 from the 1 cent a gallon on gasoline tax and $600,000 from the 3 cent road tax. These figures show that the motorists of the State will pay $2,150,000 of the road fund, the remainder being derived from the ad valorem tax.

The plans of the Highway Commission for next year call for the maintenance of about 300 miles of the State highway system designated by the last session of the General Assembly. It will cost about $1,000 a mile to maintain these roads. The State owes different counties several million dollars under the State aid project so it will be seen that the Highway Commission will be handicapped for funds unless some further provision is made. The State had expected to derive some thing like $2,000,000 annually from the tax on whiskey imposed by the last General Assembly but an adverse decision in this matter will rob the State of many millions of dollars for road building and maintenance.

Handsome Boy.

A bouncing baby boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sausley Hughes last Sunday evening. The happy parents are receiving the congratulations of their friends, while the father is the proudest man ever. Wallace Elkin Hughes is his name.

Methodist Church notes

Twelve from the Junior Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, chaperoned by their leader, Mrs. F. H. Palmer and Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Swope, went to Richmond last Thursday, to attend a Rally given by the Junior Societies of the Danville District. They received a hearty welcome from the Richmond people and all reported a good time.

The Woman's Missionary Society at their regular session, Wednesday afternoon, had a splendid meeting. The Junior Society assisted by giving interesting reports of their trip to the Richmond Rally.

Christian Church Notes.

The Garrard County Christian Sunday School Convention which was held at Pleasant Grove last Friday was largely attended. Interesting addresses were made and reports from all the Sunday Schools showed steady progress. The Pleasant Grove folks were splendid hosts. At noon a dinner, typical of Central Kentucky quality and abundance, was served and greatly enjoyed.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—S. M. Robinson, Level Green.

Vice President—W. S. Embry, Lancaster.

Secretary—Miss Rosa Ray, New Antioch.

County Elementary Superintendent—Mrs. Shepherd, Paint Lick.

County Secondary Superintendent—Mrs. Walter Center, Fairview.

Rev. E. H. Bourland will attend the Mercer County Sunday School Convention on Thursday of this week. He will represent the State Board of Missions and speak on the subject, "The Need of Evangelism." From Harrodsburg Mr. Bourland will go to Louisville to attend the Inter-racial Conference which Governor Morrow has called for Friday and Saturday.

The minister of the Christian Church will speak next Sunday morning on the subject: "A Qualified Exhortation." His subject at the Union Services at the Baptist Church on Sunday evening will be "The Right of Moral Leadership."

A few paltry dollars can cause untold misery, but not all of the wealth of the world can alone purchase one hour of unalloyed happiness.

CONSUMER WILL PAY THE BILLS.

Higher Freight Rates to Cost $96 A Person in the United States.

Washington, July 18.—Approximately $9,600,000 will be added to the nation's living costs for the year beginning September 1, J. E. Weatherly, economic expert of the Justice Department, predicts.

Weatherly said he based this prediction on belief the Interstate Commerce Commission would be forced to increase freight rates approximately $2,000,000,000.

An appeal for increases totaling $1,000,000,000 now is being considered by the Commission at the request of the railroad managers. Another billion must be added if the railroad Labor Board grants proposed wage increases to 2,000,000 workers, Weatherly said he assumed.

"Increased freight rates are reflected in living costs, not in straight proportion, but magnified about 4.8 per cent," Weatherly said.

"This is because the public pays a freight rate increase several times instead of once.

"One increased rate is paid when the cattle go from the plains where they graze to the slaughterhouse.

"The second increase is paid when the raw hides are shipped from the slaughterhouse to tannery, a third from tannery to shoe manufacturing house and a fourth when the finished shoe goes from manufacturer to the dealer.

"Shoes show a magnification of the rail increase four times. In some commodities, however, the increase is magnified only three times.

"There is another factor. The increased freight rate paid by each dealer or manufacturer is added to his cost of operation on which he figures his profits on a percentage basis.

"There seems no getting around the fact that a freight rate increase means a tremendous boost in prices of every commodity produced in the United States. Every person in the United States is bound to feel the increase. It means a tax of about $96 a year for each of the 100,000,000 persons in the United States."

Elliott.

Mrs. Robert Elliott was born August 31, 1898, and died July 16, 1920. Before her marriage she was Miss Florida Hoan, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hoan of Lowell.

She was married to Mr. Robert Elliott of Wallacetown, October 25th, 1916, and their home life was a truly happy one, only interrupted by the sorrow which came to them two years ago, when death claimed their oldest child. Mrs. Elliott was never very strong after this, and about a year ago it became known that she was a victim of that dread disease, tuberculosis. At that time she was living in Louisville, but her husband brought her back home, and soon after took her to the Berea Hospital for treatment. She remained there one month with very little improvement, and was then taken to her father's home at Lowell, where she stayed until her death.

Her mother became a very devoted nurse, and together with the other members of the family, did everything in their power for her comfort. She was very patient and uncomplaining, and was ever grateful for the many kindnesses shown her.

Mrs. Elliott became a member of the Christian church in her young girlhood and lived true to its teachings till the end, becoming more consecrated as her young life slowly ebbed away. She often talked to her loved ones of death, and plead with them to be prepared for it. She told them death had no horrors to her, that she was willing, ready, and waiting to be called.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Ramsey, at the Presbyterian church at Maize and the body was laid to rest in the cemetery there.

Be comforted, dear friends, for the Savior has said: Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

Besides her husband and little thirteen months old daughter, she is survived by her father, mother, three brothers and two sisters. The sympathy of the community goes out to them in their sad bereavement.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hoan desire to thank their friends and neighbors for the kindness shown them, during the illness and death of their daughter.

If the price of news print continues to advance we may soon be printing this paper on twenty dollar bills or twelve inch boards. It's a merry life.

Don't Kick Your Town.

There is no better evidence of a commendable community spirit than that of loyalty to a town in which a person lives.

If a town is worth living in, it is worth defending and supporting, and its efforts to advance with the rest of the world.

Yet in almost every community you will find people who can see nothing good in their surroundings.

They can not recognize the fact that though it may be humble, it yet is home—that it has clothed them, and fed them, and cared for them in sickness and in health, and has furnished them friends who have been steadfast and true.

They magnify its imperfections and spread clouds wherever they go. They often make life miserable for others and invariably make it a reproach to themselves.

But there is a brighter side to this story.

The abuse these short sighted people heap upon their place of abode generally falls upon unsympathetic ears.

Their neighbors and friends know them as they are—as people who might have been valuable citizens capable of constructive work, but whose dispositions have been warped in younger days, possibly thru no particular fault of their own.

Their criticisms are listened to with good natured patience, but are forgotten about as soon as uttered.

The views of the chronic kicker and fault finder have less weight than those of any other adult element of the human race.

When he thinks he is kicking his town he generally finds that he is kicking himself instead.

Mr. Sam Harris has returned to his home in Louisville after a visit to his parents, Judge and Mrs. E. W. Harris on Maple avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Simpson and daughter, Miss Elizabeth Logan, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Uriah Simpson on Richmond street.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Crutchfield and son Hubert, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Pollard spent Sunday in Cincinnati with Mr. and Mrs. Will Matlock.

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Dunn are receiving congratulation over the arrival of a little daughter last Thursday. It has been named Ollie Louise. Mrs. Dunn before her marriage was Miss Isabelle Sanford of this city.

A beautiful event of Saturday was the reception which Mrs. F. B. Marksbury gave in honor of Mrs. C. C. Brown, of Louisville, at her home on Danville road. The lovely rooms with handsome antique furnishings were additionally pretty with decorations of garden flowers including snapdragons, zenias, sweet peas, hollyhocks, roses and phlox. The porch was most inviting with comfortable seats, swing and decorations of garden flowers. The freshment table was decorated with sweet peas of varied colors, the central charm being a large basket filled with these flowers. Crystal candle sticks with pink shades, silver baskets filled with heliotrope, pink and white sweet pea mints completed the table appointments. The guests were welcomed by the host, the honor guest, Mrs. John Gill Kinnaird, Mrs. J. M. Staughton, of Camp Gordon and Mrs. Robert Brewer, of Oklahoma. Assisting in the hospitalities were Mrs. E. W. Morrow, Mrs. Clay Sutton, Mrs. Theodore Currey, Mrs. Joe Walker, Mrs. Louis Landram, Misses Martha and Helen Gill. Little Misses Josephine and Julia Walker Brewer assisted in the dining room. Pink, heliotrope and white were reflected in the tempting refreshments of cake, food in sweet peas, brick cream and mints. The affair was a very delightful and lovely one. About fifty ladies enjoyed Mrs. Marksbury's charming hospitality.

OUTBREAK OF TRUE ARMY WORM HAS BEEN DETECTED IN SOUTHERN AREAS

The true Army Worm and its Destructive Work

In the long battle against insect enemies, the bureau of entomology, United States department of agriculture, serves as the farmer's "listening post" to give due warning of an impending raid from the enemy. An outbreak of the true army worm has been detected in southern Illinois, and also in southern Missouri, and the scientists are making every effort to give information upon the control of this pest.

Parent or Moth of True Army Worm. (Enlarged.)

It is expected that the worm will appear in the sections lying north and northeast of the area infested at present. Probably this will occur within a short time, and farmers are urged to be ready with their defense.

Control of Pest.

Just what this defense should consist of is fully described in Farmers' Bulletin 731, which the department will send free upon request, to any interested person. Briefly, the control of the pest is effected by means of poisoned baits, poisoned sawy, grain crops not intended to be used as forage, and by the construction of ditches and traps where the masses of caterpillars can be caught and crushed with a log drag.

For the next three months the fields of growing grass and grain must be watched carefully and, when the worm is discovered, the attack should be pressed with utmost vigor to prevent the pest from fortifying his position. Once entrenched the army worm will claim a large amount of farm profits for his voracious consumption of tillage crops. I down the grassy swath of the army worm in the past 20 years.

Markings of True Worm.

The true army worm caterpillar is confused with the green worm, but the green worm, which is a common pest of the cotton, is a much larger caterpillar, and its body is marked with dark stripes along its back. The true army worm is much smaller, and its body is marked with dark stripes along its back. Its greenish-brown body is marked with dark stripes along its back. Its greenish-brown body is marked with dark stripes along its back.

The army worm operates in a mass, and from this characteristic it derives its name. When large numbers of them are at work in a field the changing sound of their moving mass can be plainly heard as they devour every blade in sight.

PROTECT COTTON TO PREVENT MUCH LOSS

Damage Amounting to $70,000,000 Done in Past Year.

Although One of Hardest of Farm Products, Its Strength is Not Sufficient to Withstand Exposure to the Elements.

What would you say if you saw a man deliberately destroy $70,000,000 worth of clothing by placing it in a rainstorm? No one has done precisely that, but what has actually occurred is no less wasteful than that that would be.

Specialists of the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture, conservatively estimate that during the past year cotton growers of the United States suffered a $70,000,000 loss through damage to cotton by exposure to weather. They say, that after ginning, cotton is permitted to remain in the weather for months at a time instead of being properly sheltered, and that although cotton is one of the hardest of farm products, its strength is not sufficient to withstand such exposure to the elements.

The bureau of markets maintains that the amount of money lost through this cause in a single season would probably be sufficient to build the warehouses needed, and that after the first year these warehouses would become practically surplus assets in the hands of the farmers.

It is also pointed out that receipts covering cotton stored in properly operated warehouses are accepted generally as collateral for loans, the interest charges for which are more than paid for by the profits accruing to the farmer through his ability to sell his cotton as it is needed by the mills.

RAISE CHICKENS FOR MONEY

Incubator Has Revolutionized Industry and Made It Worth While for Every Farmer.

Poultry raising was never given much consideration by anyone. Quite a contrast with what is being done now by the government, agricultural colleges, experiment stations and various other institutions in behalf of the humble hen. The incubator has revolutionized this business of raising chickens and has made of it a business worth while.

PROTECTION FROM FLIES

The following remedy is said to afford horses, dogs, and cows absolute protection from flies. Pennyroyal, 1 ounce; alcohol, 2 ounces; fish oil, 1/2 pint.

Mix in a bottle and shake well before using. Apply lightly to the animal's coat each morning and for 24 hours it will be immune from flies. Be careful to apply the preparation lightly, as it will stiffen the hair. One bottle will last a summer for a horse. Any drug store can supply the ingredients.

CULLING OF POULTRY FLOCK

Intelligent Work is Essential for Success, Say Specialists—Best Fowls to Save.

Intelligent culling of the poultry flock is of the utmost importance for success in poultry keeping, say specialists of the department of agriculture.

Cull These Hens.

Sick, weak, lacking vigor, inactive, poor eaters, early molters with small, puckered, hard, dry vents; with small, shriveled, hard, scaly, dull-colored combs; with thick or coarse, stiff pelvic bones; that are close together, small spread between pelvic bones and rear end of keel and hard, small abdomen. In broods with yellow skin and shanks the discarded hens should also show yellow or mottled yellow shanks and yellow beaks and vents.

Save These Hens.

Healthy, strong, vigorous, alert, and active; good eaters, not molting or just beginning to molt in September or October; with large, moist vents; with full, red combs, thin, pliable pelvic bones well spread apart, wide spread between pelvic bones and rear end of keel, and large, soft, pliable abdomen. In broods with yellow skin and shanks, the hens saved should also show pale or white shanks, and pale or white beaks and vents.

FIX HARVESTING MACHINERY

Mighty Good Investment of Time to Spend Rainy Day in Putting Implements in Shape.

A rainy day spent in putting that mowing machine, hay loader, blower and other harvesting machinery into shape is a mighty good investment of time. This is more true this year than usual for two reasons—first, labor is much scarcer, and therefore the loss of any time wasted will be greater, and, secondly, the parts may be harder to get than usual, due to a shortage of supplies in many lines. Forethought may save some after-worries.

PLACE FOR HORSES TO ROLL

Best Plan to Let Animal Out Once Each Day—Rolling Adds to Its Health and Vigor.

Where horses are closely confined in stalls most of the time, they are more apt to roll in the fifth and measure than if they had been taken out and allowed to roll once a day. Letting them roll outside of stalls saves much currying and brushing and the possibility of the animal rolling where it would get fast, and adds to its health and vigor by keeping it cleaner.

Vote For

Ralph Gilbert FOR — CONGRESS

In The Democratic Primary, Aug 7, 1920

Gilbert Has Never Been Defeated.

He is the Logical Man to Nominate.

Gilbert Will Redeem The District In November.

HE IS LEADING FOR THE NOMINATION

READ WHAT THE PAPERS SAY OF THE RACE

(From the Shelbyville News.)

GILBERT THE MAN.

The Democratic voters of Shelby county are rallying splendidly to the support of Ralph Gilbert—their Home man—for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the coming primary election and the outlook is bright for one of the largest majorities this county has ever accorded a candidate for a district office.

This spirit reflects credit upon the citizenship of Shelby county. Loyalty to one's own friend and neighbor has been a marked characteristic of the Anglo Saxon race for centuries past, and when the object of that loyalty is as clean and capable as he is in this case it is but natural that his people should rally strongly to his support.

County loyalty, however, is not the main factor that is causing Ralph Gilbert to receive such strong support. The more one examines the fitness and availability of the candidates for the nomination the more certain one is to become convinced that Gilbert is the outstanding man and the best equipped to represent our people in the halls of Congress.

Shelby county is not alone in its support for Gilbert. His friends believe that he is sure to carry seven and probably eight of the eleven counties comprising the district.

Visit any county among the eleven and you will find Gilbert in the lead or the contending man for the nomination. This is true in every one of the eleven counties. In no county is he considered to be the last man in the race. Is this not a "straw that shows which way the political wind is blowing?"

It is not surprising that Gilbert is leading in the race. The Democrats of the Eighth District are as alert and intelligent as any like body of men in this entire country. Like the Democrats of Shelby county they know Gilbert is capable and honest. They know he can be depended upon to represent their interests faithfully and intelligently. And they have not forgotten that the only other time this district was misrepresented by a Republican that it was a Gilbert—a stalwart Shelby countian—that redeemed the old Eighth and brought it safely back to the Democratic fold. History is said to repeat itself, and it need not be surprising that another Gilbert—a worthy son of the Democratic victor of '08—is to be chosen to lead the untainted Democracy of the old Eighth to success in November.

(From the Harrodsburg Democrat.)

A STRONG CANDIDATE.

It would be difficult for the Democrats to get a more formidable candidate than Judge Gilbert, who, besides his professional attainments has great personal popularity in the district. Judge Gilbert is a successful lawyer, a fact that will mean something when his merits are weighed in the balance, but he is especially a good all round business man who stands high in the estimation of all classes irrespective of party. All these assets are by no means a negligible quantity and they will weigh heavily with the voters of the district.

(From the Anderson News, Lawrenceburg, Ky.)

WILL HAVE SUPPORT OF SISTER COUNTY.

To say that Judge Gilbert is a high-toned gentleman and an able lawyer is putting it mildly. The eight years he served the people of his own county as County Judge speaks eloquently of his ability as a jurist and his success as a business man.

There are many citizens in this city and county who remember pleasantly his father, the late Hon. G. G. Gilbert, who represented this district in Congress some years ago.

Should Judge Gilbert be the successful nominee in the August primary, he can be assured of the support of his sister county in the final.

Vote For Gilbert and You Vote For A Winner.

RAGGED BETTER WINS $22,000.

Shabby Ex-Soldier Barred At Paris Races With Thousands In Pocket.

"LUCKIEST" MAN AT MEET.

PARIS.—M. Hilgot, who won 4,300 pounds at the races last week with his ex-soldier's pension of 150 pounds, had a reverse of fortune when he was excluded from a paddock at Longchamp on the ground that he was too shabbily dressed.

In private life a newspaper seller, "Old Cherry," as he is called, found that not even the impressive bulk of his pocketbook, bulging with 1,000 franc notes, availed to persuade the guardians of the gate to allow him inside, and he was obliged to retire to the 4 shilling ring, where opportunities to bet in large sums are restricted.

This remarkably lucky man who sometimes stakes hundreds of pounds on a single race and when he loses goes back philosophically to his less romantic occupation of selling evening papers in the streets, has sprung into such notoriety that when he appears at a race course he is surrounded by a mob eagerly demanding racing tips.

Having been arrested when found counting thousands of pounds worth of bank notes on a bench in the street while drunk and very disreputably dressed, he obtained his release by satisfying the police that he had won all the money on the races.

"I have a little pension as an old soldier," he said, "and when it comes in I always put it on a horse. Then I reinvest my winnings. Sometimes I have long runs of luck. The other day I had won 2,300 pounds by 3.30, but by 5 p. m. I had lost it all, and in the evening I was selling papers as usual on the boulevards."

Pere la Cerise, "Old Cherry" looks like a robust tramp of about 50. He seldom wears a collar, and his clothes are very shabby.

The great war is over, but the little ones keep right on making a noise in hopes that some one will hear them.

EARTHQUAKES

Rock Los Angeles.

SHOCKS CAUSE WILD EXCITEMENT AND BRING IN TRAIN SCORES OF MINOR HURTS.

LOS ANGELES.—Four earthquake shocks of varying intensity formed the total of Friday's seismic disturbances here, and, although the last one came after 6 o'clock, the city had resumed practically its normal aspects before bedtime. The theaters attracted their usual crowds, the streets were filled with pedestrians and vehicles, and there appeared few surface indications of any remaining nervousness.

The physical marks left by the tremors, while many, were relatively slight. Some chimneys were shaken down; much plaster was jarred loose; dishes and ornaments were broken; a few earth slides occurred, one where it interfered with traffic, and there were other annoyances, such as shortened chimneys and twisted water mains, that interfered with the operation of meals in some parts of the city.

As far as could be learned no one was injured by the quake itself, but it brought in its train scores of slight hurts, due to falling objects jarred down on the heads of pedestrians, to jams occurring in stores and other public places, where customers and workers alike sought to hasten to the open air when the buildings swayed, and to attacks of hysteria and nervousness, which filled every store emergency hospital and taxed the facilities of the city first aid station.

No accurate estimate of either money damage or physical injuries will ever be made, the authorities believed, because scores of minor hurts and losses will go unreported.

When Wise Men Are Foolish.

We Americans have a peculiar fault.

There are times when we permit our wisdom to degenerate into foolishness.

For five years we have been too busy with prosperity to provide against the adversity the morrow may bring.

Millions of people today are receiving wages who before the war had difficulty in earning three good meals a day for themselves and their families.

Some were wise and steadfastly refused to be stampeded. They adopted a policy of systematic saving, and today are living comfortably and have bank books laid away.

Others, normally keen of intellect, succumbed to the shock of sudden prosperity and started the pace. They are still hitting the high spots.

When work became plentiful and wages soared the clouds, the wise course would have been to lay aside the surplus and accumulate a good large bank account. In time they would have been in comfortable circumstances and receiving an income from their investments.

But wisdom did not prevail.

The money came easily and in bunches, and it has been going as it came. It is still going, and probably eight out of every ten of these people are financially about where they were five years ago.

But even now it is not too late to save.

Work is still plentiful and wages are still high, and any one can save if they desire.

But it is doubtful many of them ever will.

Five years as spenders has spoiled them as savers—and saving is the only thing that will drive the wolf from the door when it begins to howl.

They are enjoying life to the full today, but tomorrow may witness the dead leaves of a lost opportunity falling around them.

Mr. Geo. C. Givens

Passes Away.

Mr. George Carpenter Givens, whose illness has been reported in this paper several times, died at his home out on the Rush branch pike Wednesday evening about 10 o'clock. He had a complication of troubles and had suffered for several months.

Mr. Givens was born in this county on Feb. 14, 1847, and hence was 73 years old. He was a son of Sowell Woolfolk and Mary Carpenter Givens, both of whom have long since gone the way of all good. Early in life he married Miss Neppie Moore, of Bourbon county. She died a number of years ago, and sleeps in Buffalo Springs Cemetery. Two children were the fruit of the union, Mrs. Lucy Miller Bartley, who died some three years since, and Mr. Ewalt Givens, who is the sole survivor of the family. He is survived by the following sisters and brothers, and they and the son have the sincere sympathy of many friends: Mrs. Jennie Surber, of Payette, Idaho; Mrs. W. P. Grimes and Mrs. Albert Smith, and Miss Florence Givens, of this city, and Mr. S. W. Givens, of Middlesburg, and B. W. Givens, of the Hubble section. Mr. Givens had been a farmer all of his life and was a good one. He enjoyed farm life and seldom left home except on business. Since he was young he had been a member of the Christian Church. He was a good citizen, a kind and indulgent husband and father and a gentleman in all the word means. Many hearts are saddened by his taking and he will be missed by many friends. At his late home at 2:30 this afternoon Rev. H. J. Hanzelton, his pastor, conducted funeral services, assisted by Rev. E. N. Tinder, a close friend, after which the remains were taken to Buffalo Spring Cemetery and there laid beside those of the splendid wife, who preceded him a dozen or more years to the land that is fairer than day.

The following gentlemen acted as pall bearers: Messrs. William P. Grimes, Jr., Gatewood Beasley, B. W. Givens, Jr., George Woolfolk Givens, Will H. Hester and Dr. J. G. Carpenter. These friends were honorary pall-bearers; Messrs. W. H. Underwood, J. C. Bailey, S. T. Harris, Richard Hester, J. B. Paxton, and W. B. Shanks—Interior Journal.

Destroying Illicit Still.

News comes that Prohibition Enforcement Officer H. Rowan Sauley, of Stanford, H. M. Samuels, of Richmond and J. M. Kavanaugh, of this city, destroyed a moonshine still on Hind Creek, fifteen miles south of Richmond, Kentucky, together with 150 gallons of still beer. The still was of fifty-gallon capacity and had a complete outfit for making whisky attached. The same officers, reinforced by Deputy Neil Guilfoyle of Mt. Sterling, entered Wolf county and destroyed a sixty-five gallon still, with six 100-gallon fermenters and 400 gallons of still beer.

Never ask a woman her age. It is unwhimsical to invite her to tell you.

Keep Well

Do not allow the poisons of undigested food to accumulate in your bowels, where they are absorbed into your system. Indigestion, constipation, headache, bad blood, and numerous other troubles are bound to follow. Keep your system clean, as thousands of others do, by taking an occasional dose of the old, reliable, vegetable, family liver medicine.

Thedford's

Mrs. W. F. Pickle, of Rising Fawn, Ga., writes: "We have used Thedford's Black-Draught as a family medicine. My mother-in-law could not take calomel as it seemed too strong for her, so she used Black-Draught as a mild laxative and liver regulator. We use it in the family and believe it is the best medicine for the liver made." Try it. Insist on the genuine—Thedford's. A pack- age.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgages, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: (If there are none, so state.) None.

R. L. Elkin. Sworn to and subscribed before me this 8th day of July, 1920, W. O. Rigney, Notary Public, Lancaster, Kentucky. My commission expires Feb. 1st, 1922.

THE Improved INSTRUMENT BOARD

A Feature of the New Series Haynes

YOU easily depress the small lever (A) at the left—and the velvety-powered Haynes engine with its dependable force and strength in reserve, is in motion, softly humming in readiness to propel your new series Haynes.

Quick control of any part of the lighting system is secured by depressing the small lever (B) at the right.

Observe the picture of the modernly equipped and conveniently arranged instrument board of the new series Haynes. The simplifying refinements bring the starting and lighting of the car literally to your fingertips. This is just one of the desirable and outstanding features of the new series Haynes—one suggestion of the many approved ideas and developments which are incorporated in the new series Haynes car. Through these refinements the name Haynes has become synonymous with character.

The new series Haynes cars embody and portray in every way the four essential factors of car-character—beauty, strength, power and comfort.

The lustrous aluminum body, with its lasting and mirror-like finish, the sturdy chassis and rugged mechanism, and the deep leather upholstery of the wide, roomy and comfortable seats—all these are carefully and scientifically harmonized to the point that leaves nothing further to be desired in the new Haynes.

This Rings True.

Every farmer who reads the following editorial by E. E. Miller, of the Southern Agriculturist, is sure to say, Amen:

Somewhere or other, lately, I read some man's writing to the effect that while the farmer should be a better paid citizen, comparatively speaking, than he is now, he should not expect, and should not receive, as great financial reward for his labor as men working equally hard in other occupations. For, this writer went on to say, there are certain compensations about farming and work, certain pleasures and satisfactions in the farmer's life that make up to him for the getting of less money, the accumulating of less wealth, than the man who drudges at industrial labor, or the man who strives in the business world should get or accumulate.

It was raining when I read that. I thought of how I would have to drive and wade through the mud when I got home, or how somebody would have to go splashing through the poultry yard to put the little chickens safely away, of how the much needed fencing must be delayed so that cows could run through sloppy fields where they had no business, of how the spring planting must wait and, thinking of these "compensations" I said to myself, "What bunk!"

Then, going back over my farm recollections, I thought of my boyhood experiences, chopping pigs, chopping thistles, pulling weeds in the garden, carrying in wood at dusk in zero days of winter, following the plow up and down quarter-mile corn rows with the sun blazing on my head, the grubs working about in my shoes and the reaping blades making my nose redden still, and again I thought of my later farmlabor, of teaching cross calves to drink out of a bucket, of cleaning out the stables of running pigs, of spraying fruit trees with lime-sulphur, of a dozen equally delightful tasks the farmer has to perform, and I said to myself, "What genuine and infernal rat-compensations, indeed!"

Justice Greatest of Virtues.
The sense of justice was never born in the human heart. This divine virtue is at variance with the instincts of the individual and nature itself is essentially non-just. Justice is the flowering of all the other virtues—the heavenly endowment of rare and great souls only.—Sir Richard Croke.

Sanskrit Oldest Language.
The oldest known language is Sanskrit, the ancient language of the Hindus; long since obsolete in vernacular, but preserved to the present day as the literary and sacred language of India. It is a sort of mother of languages, many of those of Europe being largely based on it.

Red Squirrels.
The red squirrels are found most abundantly in woods of chestnut, hemlock or oak trees. These little squirrels do not lay up big stores of food as some of the other varieties. In summer time they make excursions to the fields and orchards. Apple seeds are a favorite delicacy.

ALDRIDGE & MARSEE

A TIMELY GIFT.

By EVELYN LEE.

"Now, then, David, tomorrow is your birthday, and I have a present for you that I may as well give you now." "Not a rocking chair, or a sport shirt, or a steel pen?" inquired David, Woodson suspiciously.

"Not likely, seeing that you made knotted strings of ties in a week, to say nothing of anything but cut-to shirts and just the pin I gave you the second day. No, David, I'm going to give you a watch."

"Why? you gave me one once."

"I did, on the anniversary of our silver wedding, and you let it drop on the floor and put it out of commission."

"No use harping on a man with jewelry who is too busy with farming to pay attention to fads," pronounced David.

"Well, a watch is something that every man should carry."

"I declare! It makes a fellow feel sort of dressed up to carry a watch, eh, Martha? And you're a dear, whole-souled woman to think that much of a hard-headed, clumsy old fellow like myself!"

David delivered a resounding smack squarely on Martha's lips, and she fluttered and flushed like some school-girl. She had to scold mildly and instruct in detail to get the watch placed in the right pocket and the chain far in the correct button hole.

Martha smiled an extra welcome when, on the stroke of six, David came into the house from the field, rather boyishly compared his watch with the kitchen clock, and announced:

"You've had a good time-keeper made of the old wreck of a watch, Martha. It's right to the minute."

Arthur Moore called that evening. He was keeping company with the eldest daughter, Hazel, and was a general favorite with the family. The smaller children had considerable fun repeatedly asking father what time it was, while Hazel declared the watch must be fast when her father observed that it was ten o'clock, which was the usual hour of departure of her lover.

It was two days later when David walked over to Brownsville on some business. The distance was only five miles, and he did not care about sparing a horse from harvest work. It was at Brownsville that young Moore lived with his stepfather, Hugh Griscoon. Those two had not been very congenial, and Arthur had told Hazel that the sooner they were married, the better pleased he would be, as Griscoon had grown into a gruff, unscrupulous companion. It seemed that the latter was a second husband of Arthur's mother, who had left quite an estate. The stepfather was to have a life income from the property, but after his death it was to revert to Arthur.

It was about three miles from Brownsville that David paused on the path lining the river, to gaze in astonishment at two persons conversing animatedly under some trees. One was a handsome young woman David had never seen before. The other was Arthur Moore.

The woman seemed under a strain of intense emotion. Her gestures were animated and her familiar manner with Arthur aroused a deep suspicion in David's mind. As she clung pleadingly to his arm David's face darkened. Why was this prospective son-in-law meeting a woman clandestinely? She acted as though she was pleading with Arthur as only a woman stirred by love or some kindred emotion was likely to do.

For over half an hour David watched the pair. He resolved to seek an explanation of the apparently recreant love. Finally the twain parted. The woman went away weeping. Arthur came up the river path, his face serious and troubled. He acted startled as David sternly confronted him.

"I have been here some time," spoke David. "What does this mean, your meeting a woman secretly?"

"If I tell you in confidence will you regard it as a pledged secret?" inquired Arthur.

"Yes."

"Very well; I came to meet that woman, the deserted wife of a close friend, to see if I cannot bring about a reconciliation."

"Oh! by the way, what is the time?" half-jocularly inquired Arthur as he turned where their paths parted.

"Half-past four," reported David. "Coming over tonight?"

"Oh, surely!"

Arthur Moore did not go to the Woolson home that night. Before dusk a telephone message announced to the startled David that Arthur had been arrested, charged with the murder of his stepfather at three o'clock that afternoon—the motive the possession of his mother's estate.

At the hour stated a servant had heard a shot. She rushed to the living room of the house, to find Hugh Griscoon lying dead on the floor, shot through the heart. She observed a scurrying figure in the garden resembling in build the stepson.

Back to Brownsville sped David. It took only a few moments to convince the marshal that his evidence would absolutely clear Arthur Moore. An empty, rifled drawer in a cabinet where Griscoon kept his money indicated that some common burglar had committed the crime.

So Martha's birthday present had aided an innocent man; at least had saved him from serious trials and tribulations.

RUMORED PRINCE May Wed Washington Girl.

Stepfather Is Captain C. C. Calhoun, Former Lexington Attorney.

"Is His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, to confirm that which long has been rumored, his engagement to a Washington girl?" is the question asked in a dispatch recently from Washington. If the engagement should be announced Lexington would be involved directly for a former Lexington man is the stepfather of the possible future princess.

Whether the engagement is announced or not, Miss Margaret Simonds, with whom Prince Edward Albert danced when he visited Washington, and who also had the unusual distinction of receiving a personal call from the Prince and his suite, is now in England and will soon be presented at court by special request of His Royal Highness, it is said.

Miss Simonds is a member of a distinguished Charleston S. C. family. She came to Washington about two years ago with her mother, Mrs. C. C. Calhoun, who was married to Captain C. C. Calhoun, formerly an attorney in Lexington, who has a wide acquaintance. Miss Simonds is now visiting with the Earl of Mar, a relative on her mother's side.

Captain Calhoun is a graduate of the University of Kentucky. He left Lexington about eight years ago and in recent years has been in government work in Washington.

The wise man is invariably well thought of by his neighbors, for he is first to consider the rights and feelings of others.

It is encouraging that both political parties are taking a wallow at the cause of the high cost of living, but it would be more satisfactory to the goats if a few shots were taken at the men behind the cause. You cannot scare a ravenous beast with a windy "boo."

Youngest Prince Shoots Self At Potsdam.

Gambling Losses and Other Troubles Cause Downfall.

LONDON, July 18.—Prince Joachim, youngest son of the former Kaiser, fatally shot himself at Potsdam last night, according to a dispatch to the Daily Express.

The prince was hurried to a hospital, where he died four hours later. The prince's wife had left him last year.

It is feared, the dispatch said, that the suicide of Joachim will have a most disastrous effect on the health of the former Kaiserin, who for many months has been deeply concerned over the troubles of her family.

A late dispatch from Berlin said the reason for Joachim's act of self-destruction was his grief over Germany's downfall.

A report from Potsdam declared the prince had died in St. Joseph's Hospital from injuries received in an automobile accident. This explanation of his end, however, is believed to be official camouflage for his suicide.

Hydrographers Know the Sea.

A person who prescribes ocean routes for steamers is known as a hydrographer. He makes maps and charts of the seas and other waters. He determines and reports the condition of navigable waters, whether ocean or inland, charting the coasts and rivers, determining depths, the quality of the bottom, the times of the tides and measuring the currents.

Figs Always in Demand.

The fig yield of the vilayet of Aiden, Turkey, has risen from approximately 9,000 tons raised on 10,000 acres of land about 30 years ago, to about 22,000 tons raised on 25,000 acres. However, this advance in supply has not kept pace with the demand, and prices of figs have steadily risen. The big producing areas are, under normal conditions, exclusively tapped by the Ottoman (Aiden) Railway company's system. The orchards, located mainly in the Meander valley, are owned chiefly by Turks.

Henna Stain on Hair.

Henna leaves, dried and powdered and made into a paste or pomade with hot water, produce a reddish or orange stain and are used largely by eastern peoples for staining the finger nails and finger tips, as well as the hair. The hair is covered with this paste and enveloped with a hot cloth, which is allowed to remain for two or three hours as directed. A mixture of henna and indigo will color the hair jet black if used in the correct proportions.

When Stoppers Are Obsolete.

Bottle stoppers have an annoying habit of refusing to come out just when one wants them to do so. The following is a sure way of removing the most refractory stopper. By means of a feather apply a drop or two of salad oil just where the stopper joins the neck of the bottle. Then put the bottle at a little distance from a fire, where it will become slightly warmed, but not hot. The oil rapidly works down in between the stopper and the neck, and by giving the whole thing a slight tap the stopper will come out.

Bad Roads

Getting Worse.

This country probably has the worst roads of any of the great nations of the earth.

Americans traveling in Europe tell us of the wonderful system of roads in those countries—"just like a house floor."

Our returned soldiers are emphatic in their comparisons between our roads and those of the old countries, and the comparisons are not flattering to us.

Just now our roads are suffering because of the cost of materials and labor. Public officials do not feel warranted in going to the enormous expense entailed in good road construction.

Under normal conditions it costs a lot of money to construct a first class road. Under present conditions the cost is simply prohibitive.

Unquestionably our roads will become more dilapidated than they are now. This must be expected.

But there's no law against cussing the roads, as usual—if you feel like it.

It's a big relief at times to let off steam—and the roads can't retaliate.

Duration of Lightning.

A flash of lightning lights up the ground for one-millionth of a second, yet it seems to us to last ever so much longer. What happens is that the impression remains in the retina of the eye for about one-eighth of a second.

Bridal Cakes.

The bride cake which so invariably accompanies a wedding nowadays and which must always be cut by the bride, may be traced back to the old Roman form of marriage by "conferentio," or eating together. So also among the Trojans the bride and bridegroom used to partake together of the cake of Saganita which the bride always offered to her husband.

Rat Always Feared.

Scientists have pointed out that the agency of the rat in the dissemination of plague was well known in ancient times. Our ancestors carefully protected, and, when possible, domesticated the natural enemies of the rat and even deified some of the more useful ones, as the cat, the kestrel and the cobra. They made special use of rat-eating species of snakes, keeping great numbers of these harmless snakes in pits in their medical temples.
